

We're #1. So what?

More and more independent industry analysts and commentators are naming Cramer as the market leader in inventory management.

All very gratifying for us. But what does it mean to you?

Only this: that you can buy a Cramer enterprise software solution with confidence, knowing we'll be here to back it up for a long time to come.

Of course, it helps that Cramer is the only OSS solution with an intelligent, active inventory core. So it can automate processes and solve a wide variety of operational problems. Letting you dramatically improve your profitability.

Still, it's nice to know that some very smart people—including Bell Canada, BT, TELMEX and some of the largest service providers in the U.S.—agree you're making the right decision.

We certainly wouldn't argue with them.
